"Art! Culture! Where are you?"

A series of seven blank canvases, each flanked by a testament to the great absence of both the worlds of art and culture from perhaps the most important theme of our time, and a call to boldly address it. The Author of this summons invites Artists and Intellectuals to bridge this void by adding their own contribution to the blank expanse over these works.

Digital Copy Transfer License

Danilo D'Antonio, author of the intellectual work "Art! Culture! Where are you?" derived from an article published on the Internet years earlier and uploaded to the Arweave permanent network (the related ID and the SHA-256 integrity verification of the compressed file containing the Work are hereby certified through this Algorand Standard Asset) hereby grants the Buyer exclusive ownership of one of the Seven Digital Copies minted with this ASA.

This License grants the Buyer: the right to possess, transfer and sell this Certificate; the right to intervene on the blank portion of the Work (on a white wall, printed paper, digital medium or otherwise) with regard to the theme addressed (the absence of true Republics and Democracies due to public offices granted without term limits and the continuous re-election of the same individuals, never allowing broad participation); as well as the full right to assign and resell the New Work Enriched by the Buyer's Contribution. For each subsequent resale, Danilo D'Antonio shall receive a royalty equal to 7 (seven) percent of the total resale amount.

The Buyer may not modify the textual portion of the Work. All rights, whether economic or otherwise, relating to the original portion of the Work created by Danilo D'Antonio remain reserved to the Author.

License recorded on the Arweave network and certified on the Algorand blockchain on 04/05/57, operating from my residence in Val Vibrata, Abruzzo, Italy. Sincerely, Danilo D'Antonio
